Creativity refers to generating new and novel ideas. Innovation refers to the application of an idea and, in many cases, is a collaborative enterprise. So in other words, innovation is applied creativity. Or if I put my creative speaker hat on, I might say, “Creativity is a bioelectrical thunderstorm that precipitates an inescapable notion.”

Innovation, on the other hand, is often defined in the literature as implementation of ideas generated during the creative process. That is, creativity is a precursor for innovation since creativity is what generates ideas that are innovated upon. 2 That would suggest a linear relationship. But the literature also speaks to a virtuous cycle between the two that would seem obvious to most people: the implementation of an initial creative concept (the innovation) also sparks a new round of ...
