And if feels, tonight, as if there is much to think about, there is much we have been given and much we have left behind. The smell of freedom is as brisk as the air through the windows. And there is a feeling that time itself has been curtailed by darkness. □ □ Donald Miller, Through Painted Deserts: Light, God, and Beauty on the Open Road

Through Painted Deserts Quotes by Donald Miller

I've enjoyed Donald Miller's books in the past. In fact, Through Painted Deserts: Light, God, and Beauty on the Open Road is the third book that I've read of Miller's. In this case though, I found my thoughts on the book much more mixed than I did with either Blue Like Jazz or A Million Miles in a Thousand Years.

Through Painted Deserts: Light, God, and Beauty on The Open Road is one of Miller's lesser known works. Over this past summer I went through some pretty tough stuff, some typical some not, but whatever the case Miller helped me through. His views and ideas on God and Love and Life were crafted in such a way that they really hit home.

Through Painted Deserts

Relying on the metaphors of nature (e.g. light) and human experience (e.g. relationships), Miller offers poetic reflections on the God of all creation. "Through Painted Deserts" traces the journey (spiritual and otherwise) of Don and Paul as they travel in VW van from Houston to Oregon. One of my favorites: well told, profound, touching. A+
